

Text: The Lamentations of Khakheperreseneb

Transcription is from R. Parkinson, The Text of “Khakheperreseneb”: New Readings of EA 5645, and an Unpublished Ostracon”, JEA, 1997, Vol.83 55–68

Recto: 14 lines

EA 15 | O

EA
0

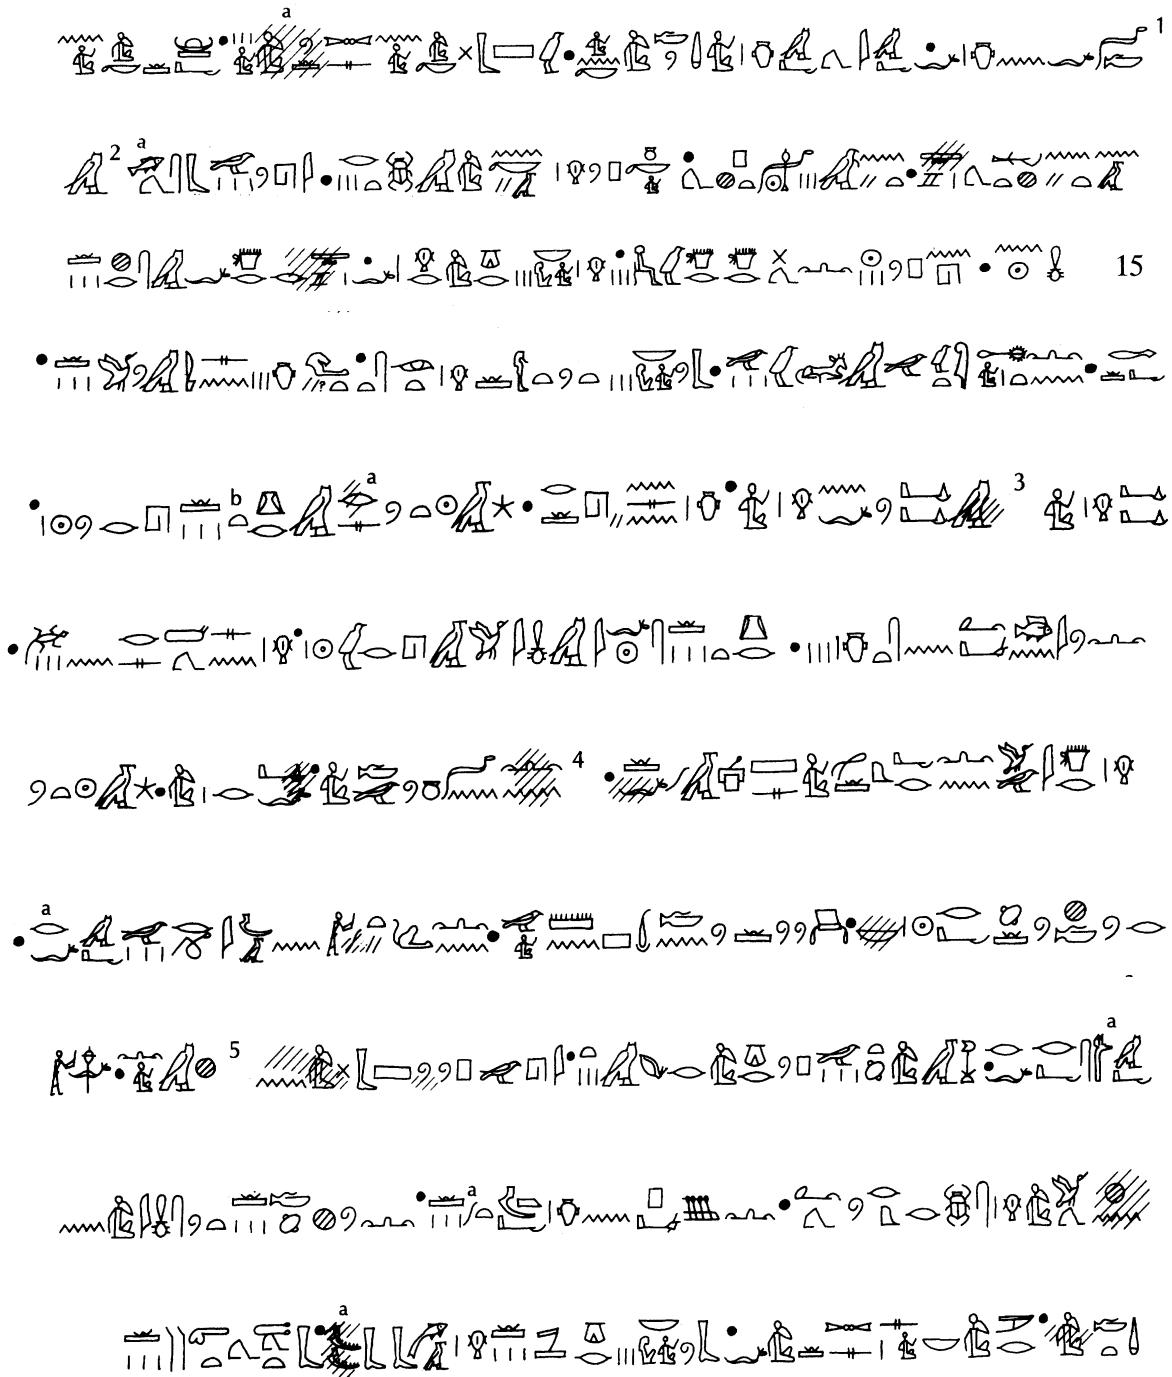

• 12 EA

This image shows a horizontal strip of ancient Egyptian hieroglyphs, likely from the Sebek stela. The symbols are arranged in a single row, representing a continuous text or narrative. The script consists of various signs, including human figures, animals, and abstract shapes, typical of Old Egyptian writing.

13

This row of hieroglyphs includes a fish, a bird, a person, a cartouche, a bird, a dot, a scorpion, a circle, a person, a cartouche, a person, a cartouche, a circle, a cartouche, and an eye.

Verso: 6 lines

A horizontal row of ancient Egyptian hieroglyphs, including figures, boats, and abstract symbols.